

Domed Mouse Trap Overshot - TT0190

Description

The Domed Mouse Trap Overshot is used to catch slick pipe, such as coil tubing, but it can also be used to catch upset or collar tubing as well. The flappers are designed to hinge open, allowing the overshot to strip over the tubing.

Operation

Once the desired depth is reached, an upward pull will force the flappers to set around the tubing. The flappers have sharp wickers, allowing the overshot to grip the slick pipe, making retrieval possible. The Mouse Trap is not a releasable tool, so the fish will have to be pulled in two for retrieval of the overshot.

Special Order Item - Contact your TTT representative for more information or pricing.